

Andi,

Introduction

It was brought to my attention that you've been ~~having some very inappropriate conversations with making~~ some very inappropriate remarks to Joe. I understand that you liked him and how you might have felt betrayed when I started dating him, but that is no excuse for ~~the way you've been acting. what you've been saying.~~

Shock and scold

First of all, suggesting to my boyfriend that ~~you make a better match for him than I do~~ you are a better match for him than I am is one of the worst things a girl can do to her "best friend." While there may be "things about him that compliment the way you are," you need to understand that he and I are together and you can't interfere with that. Telling him that you ~~don't~~ think our "relationship isn't developing in a productive way," is simply ~~malicious~~ malevolent and uncalled for. ~~Saying that you are "both sensitive in a way that the other wants/needs," is a traitorous thing to say to your best friend's boyfriend.~~ Stop trying to steal him away from me. It's not going to work. And you told him you "feel a connection to him"? You need to keep that shit to yourself. It makes you look desperate and it's ~~not endearing Joe to you at all. not at all endearing to Joe.~~

Saying that you are "both sensitive in a way that the other wants/needs," is a traitorous thing to say to your best friend's boyfriend.

How could you?

Second of all, some of the things you said about me in general were mean spirited and ~~simply~~ spiteful. Saying that I "am more interested in attention than any form of companionship" or that I "have no depth" ~~is something you should never say about your best friend.~~ are not opinions you should have about your best friend. If that's the way you truly feel about me, then ~~we should not be friends at all. we should not even be friends.~~ And- If that's not how you feel, ~~it was a horrible thing for you to say and~~ I don't understand any motivation you could have had other than trying to drive a wedge ("further augment the gap you've made" maybe?) between Joe and me.

What did you expect?

I also can't believe that you asked Joe not to tell me. He's my boyfriend. Telling him to keep secrets like that from me puts him in a really awkward position. You obviously don't care much for his feelings, either. Did you really believe that this wouldn't get back to me? ~~That I wouldn't hear about it sooner or later?~~ Joe and I have a healthy relationship. We communicate about the important things, ~~in our relationship.~~ You had to have known he was going to tell me that my "best friend" was ~~talking about me behind my back.~~ saying things not even a mere friend should utter.

I wish it weren't so

I want to believe this is a misunderstanding, but I honestly just think you are jealous of me and what I have and you just don't want me to be happy. Tell me, If Joe ~~wasn't~~ weren't the nice, honest, HOT, faithful guy that he is, and he would have let this type of talk between the two of you continue, would you have kept it up? How far ~~would it~~ would you have gone? Would have ~~gone so far as to~~ allowed him to cheat on me with you? Do you not care about me or my feelings at all? Being with Joe is one of the few things that has made me legitimately happy in a very long time and I simply wanted ~~by my~~ best friend's support. Why can't you just be happy for me? Joe doesn't want to be with you. Get over it.

Plan = foiled

When you suggested that I break up with ~~Joe him~~ when I had that fight with him over the phone at the beach, was that out of genuine concern for my happiness ~~and well being~~ or was that some devious, calculating plan of yours to land him for yourself? How excited were you when we started fighting? Did you think I'd break it off and you'd get a chance with him? Think again. Even if Joe and I did break up, he doesn't like you like that, ~~at all.~~

"Can I get a hypocrite? Extra hypocrisy, please?"

You say that you are rude and mean to him because you "can't show affection as much as you want to." So, it's not okay to show any ~~inappropriate~~ overstepping affection when I'm around, but it's entirely fine to have an inappropriate conversation with my boyfriend when you don't think I'll hear about it? That's really messed up, Andi, and I honestly don't feel like you care about me at all.

You got mad at Josh when he simply had feelings for another girl (which he didn't even act on and he ~~fessed up to~~ disclosed it, so he didn't even really do anything wrong) but sneaking around and talking like this to my boyfriend behind my back is perfectly ~~okay~~ acceptable? How hypocritical can you be? And speaking of hypocritical, you got mad when Joe and I cuddled on the bed at his beach house? Really? ~~We~~ WE were being "disrespectful"? Or "You consider THAT to be 'disrespectful'?" What about that time you and Josh e got up and left ~~and had~~ to have sex in the other room when Isley and I were sitting on your couch? Was that not disrespectful? I don't think you ~~even~~ know the definition of respect.—~~Or friendship.~~, let alone friendship. You've also been acting so fake toward me, pretending to be okay with how I am and with my relationship with Joe when it's obvious you're not, and you get on people so bad when they do that. Like Gigi. You hated her so much because of how fake she was. And now you're doing the same thing.

I've been working on it, will you?

When I cry, it's because I am dealing with my stress in the most healthy way I know how. I've admitted ~~that I have~~ to having issues and I am making an effort to fix them. I think it's about time you do the same because you obviously don't function at the highest level that you could. I'm also very glad to see that you care that I'm upset rather than commenting ~~complaining?~~ to my boyfriend how ~~that?~~ I "cry over stupid ass shit."

Don't be making precipitous accusations.

You ~~accuse~~ ~~blame~~ me of being selfish. You've even told Joe that I am on more than one occasion. After everything that my family and I have done for you, do you really think I'm selfish? We give you whatever you want and need, but yes, sometimes it needs to be about me. A friendship is a relationship. It's a give and take situation. ~~But,~~ You don't give; ~~you~~ only take.

Malogy

Now that I've told you how I feel, I think it would be best if we didn't speak any more. I no longer trust you or even like you. ~~Should be this at the end?~~ It seems resolute to me.

You have no reason to be vindictive

I understand that I hurt you by going after Joe and I'm sorry. I really didn't mean to upset you or betray you in any way. But you weren't even dating him, nor did he like you:- Now you're going after Joe and I AM dating him. Editor's note: Wait, you are? What I did was not commendable, but I did it out of true feelings for a really great guy. Editor's note: I really should meet this man. What you're doing, what ever it is, you're doing out of spite. ~~#s-That's~~ That's not an attractive quality in anybody, Andi.

This is how it is, plainly and simply

The things that Joe told you on the phone that night you guys talked for hours, you see in his relationship with me? And that bothers you? Well, you don't need to worry about that anymore. Without knowing exactly what things she's talking about (I can't even figure it out), it's dubious you should keep the above few sentences.- It (our relationship?) is none of your business, so butt out. I'm sorry people always see me as the victim, but if EVERYONE labels me that way, maybe it's because you aren't doing everything right, like you seem to think you are. (What do you mean by 'you aren't doing everything right'?) You treat me like shit, and people have been noticing it for years. I can't tell you how many people have commented on it. You're manipulative and you try to control me. I'm sick of it and I'm finally telling you off, which is something I should have done years ago. You're a bad friend, not just to me, but to Jackie and Josh as well. I hope you get help and fix yourself.

Eulogy

I hope you get everything you want and that you're life is full of happiness, because, regardless of what you think of me, I truly care about you and I want only the best for you.

Goodbye, Andi,

Sorry if you find the sporadic humor offensive, I have a natural proclivity to attempt to diffuse tense situation with such methods.